In welcoming the visiting chairmen, David C. Biggs, newly appointed governor of the Federal Reserve Bank, said that he had confidence that the Eighth District would again be the first to subscribe its quota.

Mr. Compton stated that at the time of the signing of the armistice, the government was compelled to spend at the rate of $2,000,000,000 a month. He explained that in anticipation of the Victory Loan $4,800,000,000 of certificates of indebtedness had been issued and must now be taken up.

"Our job is before us," said Mr. Compton, "and I cannot believe that the American people will repudiate a debt of honor. The person who does not pay his debts does not have a good standing in the community. A nation that will not pay its debts had
